

Hey everyone!

Welcome to the first ever Miguel Miranda newsletter! Unlike other newsletters that are intended to inform, update, or simply keep you in the know, this newsletter will probably not accomplish any of those things. Mainly because most of you know my schedule already, and if I'm not playing out, then I'm spending time with my wonderful family.

There, consider your self informed!

You should look at this more like a calendar. I will try to send at least one a month letting you know where I'm playing. If I have to cancel a show for any reason (family emergency, illness, or just tired of seeing you people) I will send out an email before 3pm so you are not completely heartbroken when you show up with your Miguel Fan club t-shirts ready to sing along to the heart wrenching reality that I'm not there. (I don't actually have t-shirts, nor do I think you all plan your evening around where I will be, but I feel important just pretending)

Another reason for the newsletter will be to get help from all of you. I will send out an occasional request for new music you want to hear, or ideas for places to play or anything else that comes to mind. My first project request will be coming shortly so please be looking out for the second ever official newsletter!

Last but not least, for only 40 cents a day you can feed my children. What does that mean you ask? I'm thinking about writing a book on tipping. As in drink one less beer and put the money you saved in my tip bucket you cheap bastards!!! Oh....sorry..... That was supposed to be in my diary entry, not my newsletter. Back to the newsletter, If you want me to add a link to my web site or newsletter just let me know, and we can work it all out. (I don't actually have a website yet, but it is coming) I plan on sending the newsletter out enough that hopefully I can help drive your business. This newsletter is not only being sent out in Gainesville but also Clearwater, Tampa and Orlando. That's right this newsletter is worldwide!! (Assuming the world is composed of Central Florida)

So, I hope you all enjoy the newsletters and have fun with the projects. Don't ever take it too seriously, it is designed to have some fun and keep you up to date. I appreciate all of you and look forward to seeing you soon!

Re-Cap:

- 1) I will be sending out newsletters with performance dates.
- 2) I may ask for help with projects.
- 3) I don't have t-shirts or a website, but they are in the works.
- 4) I reserve the right to poke fun at you in the newsletter if your behavior at a performance requires such action.
